BRITISH DRIVEN BACK FROM LADYSMITH WITH HEAVY LOSS

Report In London to That Effect Taken to Be True

SAME REPORT IN CIRCULATION IN PARIS AND BERLIN

War Office in the Dark Concerning Operations on Tuglea River—Very Slow Progress—Nothing in the Report That Dundonald's Force Has Entered Ladysmith—Buller's Fight on Sunday Was Not Decisive—Now Feared in London the Task of Relieving Ladysmith will Require More Troops—British May Conclude Finally to Make a Frontal Attack—Great Anxiety in London.

London, Jan. 23—[Special Cablegram]—There is no direct news from General Buller, but the latest cable from Durban says that the British have been driven back from Ladysmith with heavy losses.

In the absence of any word from General Buller, the report is taken as true.

Paris, Jan. 23—[Special Cablegram]—A rumor which is generally credited is in circulation in official circles, today, saying that General Buller has been defeated and driven back with heavy losses.

Berlin, Jan. 23—[Special Cablegram]—A stock exchange rumor says that Gen. Butler's operation north of the Tugela river have resulted disasterously to the British arms.

London, Jan. 23—[Special Cablegram]—It is rumored on the stock exchange today that two of Buller's regiments were captured.

Both the London and Berlin stock rumors fail of verification.

Kimberley Heavily Bombarded.

Modder River Camp, Jan 22—[Special Cablegram]—Kimberley was heavily bombarded yesterday.

London, Jan. 23—[Special Cablegram]—England is still waiting for news from Gen. Buller today. Gen. Warren was fighting again yesterday, but beyond the announcement of this fact, and the statement that progress was slow, nothing further concerning the operations north of the Tugela was received.

Additional casualties in the fighting on Saturday and Sunday were received from Gen. Buller today. The list consists of the names of officers only. One captain killed and four captains and five lieutenants were wounded.

The war office has heard nothing of the report from Durban that Dundonald's force had entered Ladysmith and the rumor has no confirmation from other sources.

Gen. Warren Continues Fighting

London, Jan. 23—[Special Cablegram]—The Daily Chronicle has received the following, dated Monday, Jan. 22, 4:15 p. m., from Spearman's Camp:

"Gen. Warren continues pushing, though he is necessarily making very slow progress, as the Boers are numerous and strongly intrenched.

"Our infantry are working over parallel ridges, with Lord Dundonald's cavalry lying well out on the left flank and awaiting developments. The Boers contest every inch of the ground.

"This morning General Warren's artillery reopened fire, but the Boers did not reply, and our fire became less hot.

"The naval guns in front of here have been quiet. A Boer prisoner, who was brought in, boasted that it would take us three months to reach Ladysmith."

An Unfounded Rumor

Durban, Natal, Jan. 23—The statement comes from an excellent source in Pietermairitzburg that Lord Dundonald has entered Ladysmith with 1,600 men. This is not confirmed from any other quarter, but it is known that Lord Dundonald's flying column has been acting well to the left of the line of advance.

Stories Meant to Brew Trouble.

Durban, Jan. 23—[Special Cablegram]—The German consul here has written to the Natal Mercury declaring that the statements in the German papers of odious conduct on the part of the British soldiers in Natal is untrue and that such stories are only meant to make mischief.

Boers Attacked at Colenso.

Pretoria, Jan. 23—[Special Cablegram]—The British attacked the Boers at Colenso Saturday but the result is not known.

The British naval guns on the Tugela river are firing armor piercing shells. A Boer patrol recently mistaking a British cavalry force for their own men approached the enemy, losing fourteen killed and twenty wounded. The British loss in the encounter was insignificant.

BULLER'S FIGHT NOT DECISIVE

Task of Relieving Ladysmith Will Require More Troops.

London, Jan. 23—In all probability the fighting in North Natal on Sunday, according to later and fuller reports was not decisive.

General Warren gained barely 1,000 yards. This is not much, considering the ground yet to be covered. Only a few of the Boers' outposts have as yet been assaulted by any of Gen. Buller's forces so far.

In the meantime the main position, which commands the approaches to Ladysmith, is still intact and is being strengthened by more intrenchments daily.

The war experts of London are of the opinion that Gen Buller's only hope of success lies in outflanking the long lines of Boer strongholds, relieving Sir George S. White from the north. This, however is an almost impossible task, owing to the inferiority of General Buller's force for such a purpose. Hence a frontal attack of the main position may be attempted after all. It may resolve itself into either that or a case of sitting on the present position waiting for the necessary reinforcement.

The suspicion is just dawning on the war office that General Buller, to work around the flank of an enemy of superior numbers as planned and begun, needs a much larger force than has been given him. Five thousand men have reached the Cape within the last two or three days, all of whom will probably be dispatched to join Buller along the Tugela, but these are all the reinforcements available and are not enough. Two or more whole divisions are considered to be needed, and it will be a month before the war office can get this number on the field. By that time it will be much too late.

FAMOUS BADGER GIRL DIES OF PARALYSIS

Miss Edith S. Utter, Known Professionally as Edith Lemonte, Dies at Trempealeau.

Trempealeau, Wis., Jan. 23—Miss Edith S Utter, known professionally as Edith Lemonte, and for years considered the most beautiful woman Wisconsin ever produced, died of paralysis yesterday at her home where she was born thirty two years ago.

She possessed a fine soprano voice, and traveled in this country and Europe in burlesque and light opera until two years ago, when stricken with paralysis. She was for years one of the most popular figures on the burlesque stage, having scored a tremendous success at her debut in Palmer's theater, New York, about thirty years ago. She made a great success on her European tour in 1897. In Paris she contracted illness that eventually resulted in her death.

Black Bass to France.

A shipment of American black bass was made to France, and they have flourished so marvelously that today they are common articles of diet in the hotels and restaurants. When the bass were introduced the French streams were practically deserted.—Denver Times.

RACINE PEOPLE IN UNUSUAL ALARM

RAPID INCREASE OF ROBBERIES AND BURGLARIES.

Custom House Figures of the Superior District—Street Car Injunction at Milwaukee Dissolved—Board of Control Inspecting County Asylums—Priest Dies in a Street Car.

Racine, Wis., Jan. 23 -The rapid increase of highway robberies and burglaries in this city has caused unusual alarm among the inhabitants of the community. Ladies seldom leave their homes in the outskirts of the city at night without escorts, and hardware merchants state that they have sold more locks, door chains and guns the past two months than in years before. That the majority of hold-ups are committed by tramps there is no doubt and the officers appear to be unable to clear the city of them. From twenty to thirty find shelter at the tramp house every night.

District of Superior Exports

Marquette, Mich., Jan. 23—The custom house figures given out today show that the exports of the district of Superior for the year 1899 were $7,556,208 while the imports for the same period were but $464,765, which leaves a balance of trade in favor of the district of over $7,000,000. The best month's business was done in May, when the exports rose nearly to $2,000,000. Wheat was the principal item of export.

Iron ore made its appearance as an export commodity for the first time in the history of the district, about $20,000 worth of it being shipped during the season of navigation.

Will Not Protect Car Men.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 23—That portion of the injunction secured by the Milwaukee Electric Railway company which enjoins victims of the motormen and conductors from prosecuting their assailants criminally will be dissolved. Judge Elliot expressed some surprised yesterday when he learned the full scope of the injunction issued by his court commissioner at the request of the attorneys for the company.

The hearing of the injunction case against the company in connection with the passage of the ordinance in this city took up all the time in Judge Ludwig's court yesterday, the attorneys for the company making arguments.

To Inspect County Asylums.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 23—Governor Scofield, who left for West Superior Sunday night to look over his newly purchased sawmill and to install his son George as manager of it, will return to this city Wednesday. On the same day his new secretary, Col. Dan B. Sharkey of Milwaukee, will begin work. Col. W. J. Anderson, the new member of the state tax commission, is gradually recovering from a severe attack of the grip.

Messrs N. B. Treat and George Bishop, members of the state board of control, left yesterday afternoon to inspect the county asylums of Iowa and Grant counties. All the county asylums are being most carefully inspected by the board this year.

Secures One Hundred and Seventy-Five Pounds Perch By Hook and Line.

Frank F. Pierson, the local well known gun smith returned home today from Lake Koshkonong where he has been during the past few days. Mr. Pierson brought home with him 175 pounds fine specimens of perch. These fish were caught through the ice. MUST BE SETTLED IN THE COURTS

M'KINLEY WILL NOT INTERFERE IN KENTUCKY WAR.

He Sees no Occasion For a Civil War Over the Possession of the Offices in That State—Montagu White Will Be Received By the President.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23—Another delegation of Kentucky republicans has come here to secure a promise from the president that he will interfere in the fight over the governorship, if the democrats try to use force, but they have got no more satisfaction than the other delegation that was here last week.

The president believes that the quarrel in Kentucky should be settled by judicial authority, and not by force. He sees no occasion for a civil war over the offices in that state, and recommends the republican managers to appeal to the courts in case the legislature attempts to throw out Governor Taylor.

Whichever way the local courts may decide, there will still be an opportunity for an appeal to the supreme court of the United States, and he believes the decision of that tribunal will be accepted as final by every man in Kentucky. If the judgment of that court should be resisted and defied, then the United States marshal would be justified in calling upon the United States for military assistance in enforcing its mandate.

Will Receive Montagu White

President Kruger is to have a diplomatic representative at this capital. Montagu White, will be received by this government in case his credentials are in proper form. If he comes as diplomatic agent, duly accredited, he will be received as such; if as consul general, then as consul general Mr. White is expected to call at the state department today.

President McKinley and Secretary Hay make no secret of their intention to receive Mr. White, no matter in what capacity he comes. This may be done without any violation whatever of our obligation of neutrality. That question is not involved.

Quay Will Be Seated.

The reports on the Quay case were presented to the senate today. The majority report prepared by Senator Turley of Tennessee, and signed by four democrats and one republican, is in favor of denying Mr. Quay a seat in the senate by appointment from the governor of Pennsylvania. The minority report, prepared by Senator Hoar, and signed by all the republican members of the committee, except Senator Burrows, is in favor of seating Mr. Quay on his credentials.

While the report was submitted to the senate the consideration of the question will not be taken up until after the disposition of the financial bill. There has been at no time since congress met any question about Senator Quay being seated. His opponents now admit that they are beaten, and that he will have a good majority.

TAYLOR ARGUES ROBERTS CASE

He Says the Question Involved Means the Very Existence of the Government.

Washington, Jan. 23—[Special Telegram]—In the house today Chairman Taylor of the investigating committee called up the Roberts case and at once began his speech.

Mr. Taylor said no matter what moral question be involved, this case presents a question of governmental life, a basis of which is law. He argued that Roberts was not eligible under the constitution either by its express language or by necessary implication.

Castro has received pledges of support from Ecuador, Governor Serrano of Panama, and from the leading members of the Colombian liberal party. All admit, however, that war on the Colombian government will be necessary to carry out the scheme.

ASKED GOD'S MERCY FOR OLD KENTUCKY

DAY OF SUPPLICATION AND PRAYING IN FRANKFORT.

Good People of the State Deplore Colson-Scott Tragedy and the Threatening Political Outlook—Ousting of Gov. Taylor Will Certainly Lead to Bloodshed.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 23—[Social Telegram]—Today was a day of supplication and prayer here on account of the Colson-Scott tragedy and the threatening political outlook in Kentucky.

The exercises opened with a large audience at the Episcopal church. Rector McCready prayed for the governor and the general assembly of Kentucky, and asked for God's mercy on "this distressed state." He prayed that peace, happiness, truth and justice may prevail.

Another prayer service was held this afternoon. This evening the leading ministers of Frankfort will deliver short addresses at the Episcopal church.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 23.—Although men interested in the political situation in Kentucky continued to arrive on all the trains, the day, on the whole, developed no sensational or unusual incidents. The republicans raised their first kick against the gubernatorial contest board on the ground of discrimination in favor of the Goebelites. Under the arrangement of time, the committee fixed from 2 till 5 o'clock and from 7 until 10 o'clock p. m. as the hours for the sittings, and met punctually during the days that the testimony for the democrats was being taken. The republicans allege that since their witnesses have been under examination some of the democratic members are tardy from a half to three-quarters of an hour for each session, thereby delaying them just that much.

Preparing to Defend Taylor.

Greenville, Ky., Jan. 23.—Meetings were held at three places in this county for the purpose of organizing bodies of men to march to Frankfort to take a hand in defense of the present state officers in the event the Goebelites try to oust them. About 600 men offered to go to Frankfort in a body armed and prepared to fight if necessary. Their plans contemplate a tramp across the state and camp life after they arrive at the state capital.

NEGRO SHOT THREE CITIZENS.

Desperate Man Killed by Officer While Resisting Arrest.

Macon, Ga., Jan. 23.—J. H. Butler, a notorious negro, while resisting arrest, shot and instantly killed Ong Smith, a negro, and dangerously, perhaps fatally, wounded B. Feldman and a man named Reed, the two latter being white men and well-known citizens. The shooting was done while Officer Pierce was endeavoring to arrest Butler. Butler was wanted by the police for an assault upon a negro woman. When the officer approached Butler the negro drew a pistol and began shooting at the officer. At the first shot Ong Smith fell dead. A ball struck Feldman, who was passing by, in the breast, and he is believed to be fatally wounded. A white man named Reed, who was on the other side of the street, was struck in the neck, and may die. Officer Pierce in the meantime had drawn his pistol, and was firing at Butler. Butler was shot and instantly killed just as he finished emptying his pistol.

TO RESIST MINERS' DEMANDS.

Coal Operators Will Not Grant Wants of Their Employes.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 23.—It is now conceded that the demands of the miners is more than the operators will grant, especialy as to the Illinois field. The operators already on the ground held a secret meeting by states. The Indiana operators decided to stand out for the present differential, 25 per cent between pick and machine mined coal, amounting to about 10 per cent per ton, and to insist on the right to use screens.

Several speeches were made, all being strongly against the miners' demand of 20 cents advance on the general run of mine coal. It is conceded by all that a scale cannot be arranged without concessions by both sides, and while the feeling is now of the best between the miners' scale committee and the operators, the split will come within the next twenty-four hours.

Tugs were dispatched to investigate and render any help possible. The collision was due to a dense fog.

Both of the boats carried passengers and it is likely there has been some loss of life.

Milton, Wis., Jan. 23, 1900.

The following extract from a recent letter of Prof. C. E. Crandall, will be of interest to his Milton friends:

"Damascus, Dec. 31, 1889—We arrived here Wednesday evening The next morning we had an interesting visit at the Syrian Presbyterian college, and on Friday had a splendid ride over Mount Lebanon; went up 4,880 feet, and were among the snows for an hour It is 35 miles to Maulaka, of which 20 miles is cog wheel rail; magnificent views of Beyront and the sea and mountain scenery. Enjoyed also the carriage ride of 18 miles to Baalbek, up Caele, Syria, with snow-capped Lebanon on one side and Anti-Lebanon and grand old Hermen at the south end on the other. Ruins of temples at Baalbek very beautiful and imposing. Finer than any at Rome. Huge stones in wall 62 to 64 feet in length and 13 feet thick, the largest stones ever used in a building. The ride over Anti Lebanon forty-four miles to Damascus yesterday, was very interesting though not as high as Lebanon. Great day here today, but too much to try to tell. The street, "which is called straight" (Acts) is still the principal one of the city. Many historical associations from David to Paul have seen the reputed house of Ananias where Paul had his sight restored and the wall and gate where Paul is said to have been let down in a basket. Also house of Naaman, the leper, etc. Bazars are great; mosques, caravans, veiled women and dervishes. We are here in the former palace of Osman Pasha. Fine court, with orange, lemon and grape fruit on the trees.

James Brainard, grand lecturer of the I. O. O. F. spent Monday here and gave instruction in the unwritten work of the order to the subordinate and Rebekah lodges.

The movement of live hogs in this market was not as large as usual last week owing to the fact that there was no advance in prices and farmers are holding for higher values. Prices remain about the same closing at $3.40 as an outside figure. Vincent and Hassenger shipped three cars. Other carload shipments from this station were one car of oats by J. S. Fotherston, one of tobacco by Soverhill and Porter and one of popcorn by A. J. Wells.

Mrs. J. E. Waterman returned from her visit in Milwaukee Saturday.

Prof. A. R. Crandall of the Alfred (N. Y.) University faculty, arrived in the village Friday and is visiting relatives and looking after his real estate interests. He has many friends here who are glad to meet him again.

The optical disorder known as "pink eye" is prevalent here and in a number of instances its victims are obliged to remain indoors as the disease is not inclined to yield to treatment readily.

Emery Burdick and wife of Janesville spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bisdon.

California weather here for a few days past. The bright sunshine and balmy air are more like April than January.

Don't be astonished next spring when you see a town hall being built here.

Has a Few Words to Offer in Answer to R. J. Richardson

Janesville, Wis., the 22nd day of the first month of the Twentieth century.

Editor Gazette—For every one hundred miles I ride on my bicycle I receive a century medal—having ridden over a mile track from wire to wire 1900 times I have completed my nineteenth century and my bicycle blouse is decorated with nineteen century medals. Having completed my nineteenth century Jan. 1st, 1900, 1900, I started on the same day on my twentieth century journey.

My nineteenth century friend, Mr. R. J. Richardson is such a conscientious man in his business affairs, that should he receive an order of nineteen centuries—1900 feet—of iron pipe he would ship thirty-one feet extra, 1931 feet, as he would not consider his order completed without taking thirty-one feet from his next century, or hundred feet, of pipe

Great Questions of the Day.

Whenever a topic of general interest is agitating the country you may be sure to find the fullest discussion of it in The Chicago Times-Herald. The columns of the paper are always devoted to the things of greatest importance. They touch every phase of every question, and the man who reads them will before long be recognized as an educated man by all with whom he comes in contact.

A single drop of poison blood will, unless checked in time, make the whole impure. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great leader in blood purifiers.

COUSIN TO MISS HODSON

Miss Pauline Joran, Who Has Just Married Baron de Bush.

Miss Pauline Joran, the Chicago girl, who on December 6, was married to Baron de Bush of England, is a cousin to Miss Rida Hodson of this city. The bride's remarkable success as an opera singer and violinist has won the admiration of the leading European artists. Though only twenty-five years old, she was the prima donna of D'Oyley's Carte's Savoy Opera company. Her public career began when as a child of four she made her debut in Chicago as a pianist. Her family, all the members or which were possessed of great musical ability. They removed to San Francisco shortly after, and in that city Pauline appeared in public with her two elder sisters constantly.

Two Children Are Drowned.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Jan. 23.—Frankie Murphy, aged 5 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Murphy of Chicago, and Harold Stancliff, aged 6 years, son of John Stancliff of this city, were drowned in Fond du Lac river, near the Wisconsin Central depot. The bodies were recovered. The children were attending the Lincoln school kindergarten. At the morning recess they went to the home of an aunt, who resides on the river bank, and were given a lunch, after which they went out to play. Nothing more was heard of them, and their absence was not noticed until dinner time. They had strayed onto the ice and were drowned in four feet of water.

Machinists Are in Demand.

New York, Jan. 23.—John J. Connolly, general organizer for the International Machinists' union, has arrived here after a tour of New England. He said: "The trade is more prosperous than it has been for twelve years. In every city I visited there was more demand for machinists than the unions could supply and wages have risen on an average 25 cents a day, owing principally to the demand for men."

Suicide of Wealthy Woman.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 23.—The wife of Clifford Shropshire, son of J. H. Shropshire, cashier of the Second National bank, shot herself through the brain, dying instantly. She was Miss Willie Robb and inherited a fortune from her father. Her husband recently made an assignment. They had just moved from the country to a beautiful new home in the city. She was 34 years old.

Dartmouth Will Raise $1,000,000.

Pro-Boer Men Meet Defeat.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 23.—A resolution of sympathy for the Boers, coupled with a request that President McKinley use his best offices in the securing of their liberty, was tabled in the house after a spirited set-to. The motion to table was carried by a vote of 56 to 22, with twenty-two members absent or not voting. The vote was pretty close to party lines, the republicans voting to table and the democrats against.

Funds for Schley Home.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The persons engaged in raising funds to buy a home for Rear Admiral Schley have made another appeal for money. In a circular letter sent out appealing for funds Rear Admiral Schley is put forth as the "hero of the naval battle of Santiago."

Changes in the Senate.

PROVE ALL THINGS

This Command is Easy to Fulfill in Janesville.

To win a wager an English Marquis stood on London bridge and offered for an hour British sovereigns ($5) for five shillings ($1.25). He could not find a customer. There are several good reasons why the ordinary mortal could not be induced to buy, but no reason can be given why Janesville people will not accept the following convincing proof about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this:

Mr. Thos. Pratt of 281 South Main St says: "I doctored off and on for forty years, attempting to rid myself of backache, which came on by spells, very painful when at their height and even when somewhat allayed, the dull aching was sure to manifest itself, if I overtaxed myself, caught cold or did any work which brought a strain on the muscles of the back. Often I have been so lame and sore that there were days I was confined to my room almost helpless, certainly unable to get up or down. Like a great many other people in Janesville I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the People's Drug Co.'s store, led to do so by the peculiar advertisement which riveted my attention. After taking a thorough course of the remedy I was able to go to the quarry and sling an eighteen pound hammer without showing any signs of a recurrence. If I am subjected to future attacks I know what remedy to employ."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

A Novel Wager.

Reading (Penn.) Cor. Chicago Inter Ocean: Solomon Watson, of this city, as the result of a bet, has had a silver quarter in his mouth, night and day, since September 4. He found the money that day, and a banter that he could not keep it for a year led to this novel wager. The bet is for $10. "It was agreed that I must eat, sleep and drink with that quarter in my mouth for 12 months," Watson says. "At first it was a hardship, but with the course of time it became easier, and today I don't mind it much. Of course, I'll win. Here's the quarter." He showed the piece of silver, which he had in his left cheek, resting against a set of molars as sound as ivory.

GEN. GEORGE M. RANDALL

Gen. George M. Randall has many friends in Janesville who will congratulate him on his well deserved advancement. Gen. Randall enlisted in the federal army in April 20, 1861, as a private in Company A, Fourth Pennsylvania regiment. He was discharged from the volunteer army in July of that year, and entered the regular service, but in August, 1864, was returned to the volunteer service, being commissioned major of the Fourteenth New York Artillery. In March, 1865, he was brevetted colonel, and became lieutenant colonel of the regiment in June of that year. He was mustered out on August 26, 1865.

His first commission in the regular army was as a second lieutenant of the Fourth Infantry, and was issued on October 29, 1861. He became first lieutenant on Nov. 6, 1962, and held that rank at the time he was given a volunteer command as major of the New York artillery. He became a captain of regulars on September 23, 1865, a month after his volunteer service terminated. He became a major on January 15, 1891, and lieutenant colonel on March 1, 1894. Later he became colonel, and was commissioned a brigadier general of volunteers during the Spanish American war. His last advancement was to the position of brigadier general of regulars.

Six brevets were bestowed on Gen. Randall during his service, as follows:

Sept. 17, 1862—Gallant and meritorious service in the battle of Antietam, Maryland.

April 2, 1865—Gallant and meritorious services in front of Petersburg, Virginia.

March 26, 1865—Two brevets for gallantry in the attack on Fort Steedman, Virginia.

Feb. 27, 1890—Two brevets for gallant services in actions against Indians at Turret Mountain, Arizona, March 27, 1893; and at Diamond Butte, Arizona, April 22, 1873. Also for gallant service in actions against Indians near Pinal Arizona, March 8, 1874, and distinguished services during the campaign against the Indians in 1874.

General Randall had command of the federal troops at the World's Fair. He had command of the troops in Alaska when the Spanish-American war broke out and saw service in Cuba during the war. His new position again places him in command of the troops in Alaska.

Few soldiers can point to as good a record.

BRITON PRAISES SAMPSON

H. W. Wilson, a well known English naval authority, has written an account of the naval engagements of the Spanish-American war in which he says:

"As an Englishman who will hardly be accused of any political bias on American affairs, I cannot restrain from expressing surprise at the unjust and cruel attacks which have been made by the American press upon Admiral Sampson, or from expressing admiration for the dignity, self-restraint and nobility of heart with which he has borne himself under them."

Continuing, he says of the admiral: "His ceaseless vigilance, wise disposition, correct and accurate judgment and high courage seem to have deserved another recompense, and that I believe, is the opinion of Americans worthy of the name."

In some of his former writings Mr. Wilson criticised the American navy, but in his present work, he takes occasion to retract much of his complaint, and speaks of the American seamen and their work in terms of the highest praise.

PEACEMAKER. BEWARE!

The accounts of the meetings held to express sympathy for the British and the Boer reminds us of a story.

Once upon a time, a man who holds a high office under the Janesville city government, saw two men beating a third. He protested to his companions, and advised interference, in flying wedge formation. The others did not feel that the affair on the other side of the street was in any way of interest, so the present official decided to "go it alone."

Crossing the highway briskly, he commanded peace and a cessation of hostilities. At the sound of his voice, one of the fighters ceased to maul the prostrate man and arose to his feet. He was a large man with double fists, a protruding under jaw, stubby hair, and a three foot reputation as a local plug-ugly.

"What," he demanded in a voice that rasped unpleasantly, "tell business is this of yours?"

"None at all" replied the present official pleasantly. "Excuse me, Mr. So-and-So, I didn't know it was you."

"Blessed be the peacemaker"—but be sure of your ground before you interfere.

The Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin says: "Ordinary headaches almost invariably yield to the simultaneous application of hot water to the feet and back of the neck." As this cure originated in Milwaukee, few people will question its value.

The Holland submarine boat will not be added to the United States navy. Uncle Sam doesn't need under-the-water craft except for the purpose of reclaiming the hostile ships he sinks, and such work can be better done by wrecking firms.

If St. Paul really wants frost enough to make an ice palace possible, arrangements should be made at once to have a convention of Boston girls gather in the "Twin city."

Constant Reader—No. Billy Mason did not invent the "Mason fruit jar." Perhaps, however, the jar was given its name because Billy strongly resembles "canned goods."

Put a mark on your calendar for tomorrow, reading as follows: "Give prize for midwinter fair today."

GILLMORE'S RESCUER.

Gallant Officer Who Rescued Prisoners From Filipinos.

One of the most interesting stories coming from the Philippines in many days is that which tells of the rescue of Lieutenant Gillmore and seven sailors from the gunboat Yorktown. The lieutenant and his boat's crew were captured by the Filipinos last April while making a landing near Baler, on the east coast of Luzon. For months they were dragged about the island by the Filipinos, kept in various prisons and handed from one commander to the other. Many times they were on the point of being rescued by the American troops, but always the Filipinos succeeded in hustling them out of the way just in time.

About a month ago an expedition headed by Lieutenant Colonel Robert L. Howze and 100 picked men was sent to the rescue of Lieutenant Gillmore. The prisoners had been heard from in the northwestern part of Luzon, and Colonel Howze struck out across the island in that direction, determined to find the men and effect their rescue.

After a remarkable series of forced marches and many minor encounters with wandering bands of Filipinos and savages the forlorn little party of prisoners was found near the headwaters of the Abalut river, in the northwest province of Luzon. After eight months' captivity they had been abandoned by the hard pressed Filipinos in a region infested by savage tribes. When the rescuing party found them, they were building rafts on which to float down the river. Lieutenant Gillmore was almost exhausted, and the men were half starved.

LIEUTENANT COLONEL ROBERT L. HOWZE.

Lieutenant Colonel Howze, who commanded the rescuing expedition, holds the rank of lieutenant of cavalry in the regular army. He entered the military academy from Texas in 1883 and served in the Fifth and Sixth cavalry. Before he went to Manila he was instructor in cavalry tactics at West Point.

PROGRESS OF CLARK CASE.

Two Witnesses Heard in the Montana Bribery Investigation.

Washington, Jan. 23.—A. L. Smith, president of the Montana National bank of Helena, was the first witness Monday before the senate committee on elections and privileges in the Clark bribery case. Mr. Smith said that the banks kept no record of $1,000 bills passed through it, and he did not remember giving any out except in two or three instances, which cases were not connected with the legislature or the senatorial contest. He also said that his bank and the bank of Clark & Bro. of Butte exchanged business.

Patrick W. Murray, a member of the Montana legislature from Butte, testified that he had several times been approached and his vote solicited for Mr. Clark for the senate. He detailed the particulars of two interviews with a Mr. Gallick, a supporter of Mr. Clark, who had on both occasions held up his hands and spread out his fingers and thumbs, saying that he (witness) could have "that" for his vote if cast for Mr. Clark for the senate.

DECLARE IT CONSTITUTIONAL.

Important Opinion on Inheritance Tax Is Rendered in Iowa.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 23.—An important decision was handed down by the Supreme court in the case of John V. Ferry et al., appellees, vs. I. C. Campbell, executor, etc., and John Herriott, treasurer of state, appellants. The court holds that inheritance taxes are constitutional, and that the amendatory act passed by the twenty-seventh general assembly in 1898, provides the notice required and remedies the defects of the original article, which it declares unconstitutional. The case was appealed from the Pottawattomie district, A. B. Thornell, judge, and was a suit in equity to enjoin defendants from collecting an inheritance tax upon the property of the estate of Frank C. Stewart.

CAMPBELL BOYS ORDERED TO SPARTA

SAD SCENE ENACTED IN JUDGE SALE'S COURT.

Mrs. Campbell Appeared and Made a Strong Plea For the Possession of Her Boys—Surroundings of Her Home Were Such That the Children Were Exposed to Vice.

In Judge J. W. Sale's court this morning a sad scene was enacted when Mrs. Emma Ward Campbell was ordered to appear and show cause why her two eldest boys should not be sent to the state school for boys at Sparta.

Mrs. Campbell for several months past has resided in a small poverty stricken home on Prospect avenue near Wisconsin street. The unfortunate woman and three small children have only kept from starving through the charity of local restaurant and hotel keepers.

Supt. of Poor S. B. Kenyon was called to the Campbell home where he found Mrs Campbell ill. A strange young man was in the house with the woman. He said he was caring for her while she was ill. Mrs. Campbell's husband deserted her some time ago. She had been married twice. By her first husband she has two boys, George E. Ward, aged seven years and Fern B. Ward, aged eight years.

When the case was called this morning District Attorney W. A. Jackson appeared for the prosecution. Mrs. Campbell and her three children were present, the youngest being a baby. Several witnesses were examined, including Supt of Poor S. B. Kenyon, L. C. Brewer and Con McDonald.

Mr. Kenyon testified as to the condition of the Campbell home and of how he was obliged to take Mrs. Campbell and her children to the county farm for keeping.

L. C. Brewer, proprietor of the Park Hotel, testified that the Campbell family received food from his hotel.

Con McDonald, the East Milwaukee street restaurant proprietor, testified to the children coming to his restaurant after food

When Mrs. Campbell took the stand she objected in strong terms to the removal of her two boys to Sparta. She said that she had done the best she could towards supporting them and sending them to school. She denied that her home was filthy. Her husband, she said had deserted her some time ago.

Judge Sale then administered to the unfortunate mother kind advice explaining to her the many excellent advantages that her boys would have at the Sparta school where they would be surrounded by good teachers and excellent teaching as well as good moral advantages.

The court then ordered the children taken to Sparta. The scene that followed was pitiful and brought tears to the eyes of many present. Mrs. Campbell then kissed her boys good-bye as only a loving mother could. Mrs. Campbell is a handsome little woman of about thirty years. Unfortunate marriage has brought her to her present state of misery.

BUILDING COMMITTEE ACCEPTS NEW JAIL

PAULY COMPANY WERE PAID BALANCE TODAY.

Rock County Now Owns One of the Most Model Jails in the Country—Would Cost Today $30,000 to Build—Building Material Has Greatly Advanced.

Rock county is now owner of the new bastile erected at the corner of Park and South First streets in the city of Janesville.

Members of the building committee of the Rock county board of supervisors met in special session at the court house this afternoon and accepted and paid for the building from the Pauly Jail Building Manufacturing Company of St. Louis. The cost to date has been close to $22,500.

The appropriation was $25,000 and when all is in readiness the total cost will be within this sum.

At the meeting this afternoon in behalf of the county were present Supervisors T. B. Bailey, Beloit; J. D. Godfrey, town of Lima, and E J. Ratheram of Janesville. Thomas C. Lewis of St. Louis represented the Pauly company. In speaking of the new jail Mr. Lewis said:

"Rock county could not today duplicate her new jail for less than $30,000. This is all owing to the advance not only in steel but in all material used in the construction of jails. Steel has more than doubled in price during the past few months. Its the luckiest thing that this county ever did to build just when they did for since the Pauly company took the contract building material has advanced in price over twice. At Wausau the Pauly company are now erecting a county jail which differs but little from the Rock county bastile. The contract price was $27,000. Since the contract was let steel and other material has greatly advanced which will bring the cost to $30,000. And this jail at Wausau is no better than the one now owned by Rock county."

Mr. Lewis was loud in his praise of each member of the building committee stating that in all his years of experience he never dealt with a more business-like body of men who at all times had the best interests of the county at heart.

James Kendrick of St. Louis, is the foreman who has been in charge of the work in behalf of the Pauly company. He is a skilled workman, who has been many years in the business. He superintended the work of placing all the steel in position, and his valuable services have been for the best interests of all concerned.

After a few minor improvements the new bastile will be ready to receive Sheriff W. H. Appleby. The building throughout is a model one.

The mason contract has been in the hands of Contractor John Peters of this city, whose reputation as a first class contractor needs no explanation. David Stewart has looked after the carpenter work in a way that has brought for him words of praise from all who have inspected the new jail.

The sheriff's residence is complete in every detail. It is separated from the jail office by steel doors. The cooking for the jail and residence will be done in one large kitchen. The jail has a total of twenty-four steel cells. Eighteen of these cells are for men, three for boys and three for women. The cells are constructed of the best hardened steel and if a prisoner is fortunate enough to make his escape from one of these cells he would still have to break out of jail.

The jail and residence are built in connection, are two stories high and are costructed of red pressed brick and Waukesha cut stone.

In certain cities, the taking of the manufacturing statistics will be withdrawn from the local enumerators, and that duty will be performed by special agents appointed for the purpose

Madison, Portage, Stoughton, Baraboo and Reedsburg will have a special agent; Beloit, Janesville and Monroe another; Beaver Dam and Watertown another and Fort Atkinson and Jefferson still another.

Certain institutions, like the state prison, hospital for the insane, etc, will also be withdrawn from the local enumerators and they will be taken by special agents.

The eligibility of certain town officers for appointment as enumerators has evoked many inquiries. A bulletin issued from the census office contains this paragraph:

"3. Tax assessors, collectors and equilizers cannot serve as enumerators or have access to the census returns, or to the information therein contained."

Mr. Turner also informs us that the list of enumerators for the several districts has been nearly completed. Their names, however, cannot be made public until they receive the approval of the director which will be several weeks later for each person selected as an enumerator has to undergo a sort of civil service examination before he can be commissioned. Instructions on this point has not been received by the supervisor but it is understood by him that the enumerators selected for appointment will be required to submit to certain "tests" in the way of filling up blanks, etc., which will in a measure, disclose their fitness for the work.

MOVE TO DIVERT THE WATERS

That Separate Us from British Territory.

BRITAIN MAY CO-OPERATE.

Rawlin's Polygamy Resolution Reported Back to Senate with Amendments—Senator Allen Is Persistent—For Government of Porto Rico.

Washington, Jan. 23.—In the senate Monday a joint resolution, authorizing the president to invite Great Britain to join in the formation of an international commission to examine and report on the division of the waters that are the boundaries of the two countries, was introduced by Mr. Platt of New York, and was referred to the committee on foreign relations.

The resolution heretofore offered by Mr. Rawlins of Utah, relating to polygamy, and then referred to the judiciary committee, was reported back from that committee with amendments, and was agreed to. It now reads:

"Resolved, That the committee on the judiciary is hereby instructed to inquire into and report to the senate: To what extent polygamy is practiced or polygamous marriages entered into, in the United States, or in places over which they have jurisdiction; what, if any, steps should be taken or measures enacted for the prevention of polygamy in the United States, and in places over which they have jurisdiction."

Mr. Allen (pop., Neb.) offered a resolution stating that the response of Secretary Gage to the senate resolution of Jan. 4 is incomplete, in that the secretary failed to transmit copies of the correspondence called for, between the treasury department and the National City bank of New York, and directing him to furnish copies of all such correspondence and communications and reports of conversations. The resolution went over without action.

Secretary Root transmitted to congress a plan for improving the southwest pass of the Mississippi river for the purpose of permitting the passage of ocean steamers to New Orleans. The scheme was drawn by Col. Roberts and Major Desby of the army engineers, and Robert Moore and William Sterling, civil engineers. It contemplates a channel 1,000 feet wide and thirty-five feet deep, at mean low water, throughout the southwest pass; the construction of two jetties; the construction of sills across Cubitte gap, the Jump, and Baptiste Collet's canal; the closing of all outlets below the ports, together with dredges, tugs; and other appliances, and the purchase of the necessary land. The whole cost is estimated at $6,000,000. The ship canal is to be finished in three years, and the project completed in five years.

Representative Henry of Texas, a member of the house committee on insular affairs, introduced a bill providing for a territorial form of government for Puerto Rico. The bill provides for the appointment of a governor and other officers, and it is stipulated that all office-holders are to be bona fide residents of the island. The legislature is to have two branches, and the house and the powers are clearly defined, all laws being subject to the sanction of congress. The legislature is prohibited from granting divorces, lotteries are prohibited, and no appropriation of money is to be made for a sectarian or private school. The council is granted power to contract indebtedness for certain purposes, not to exceed 7 per cent of the taxable values. Provision is made for a supreme, district and probate court. Members of the legislature must be male citizens of the United States, and bona fide residents of Puerto Rico.

Bride a Japanese Beauty.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 23.—Gov. Nash received a letter from his stepson, David W. Deshler, who is in Corea, announcing that he has just been married to a Japanese lady of rank. Neither Gov. Nash nor any member of the Deshler family had the remotest idea he was contemplating such a step.

Admits Part in Conspiracy.

GOULD WELCOME VERY SLOW.

Fail to Meet the Castellanes on the Pier.

THE COUNT IS VERY ANGRY.

Count and Countess Are Not Met Upon Reaching New York and Stories of Family Discord Arise—They Go to a Hotel.

New York, Jan. 23.—After living five years in Paris, the Count and Countess de Castellane have arrived in New York, their first visit home since their marriage. The Countess Anna, younger of the two daughters of the late Jay Gould, made no attempt to hide her chagrin when she learned that no member of her family was at the pier to receive her. The count, with more independence than he had been credited with, paused in his tirade against his calumniators in Paris to announce that he had ordered apartments to be reserved at the Waldorf-Astoria, and that if the brothers and sisters of his wife cared to see her they would call upon her there.

Not long after their arrival at the hotel the count and countess received a short visit from Miss Helen M. Gould. The latter left her home in Fifth avenue after 11 o'clock, drove to the Waldorf-Astoria, greeted her sister and brother-in-law and arrived at her home again before noon.

Later in the day, after the public had gained the idea that a serious misunderstanding had occurred between the Countess de Castellane and her family, Miss Gould arranged that the count and countess should dine with her at her home. She also arranged a family party for the opera. Those who saw Count and Countess de Castellane with George Gould, occupying prominent positions in Miss Gould's box at the opera, could hardly give credence to the stories of family estrangement. George Gould met his sister, the countess, for the first time at the entrance of the opera box.

After the French liner La Brentagne had been warped into her pier, Count and Countess de Castellane, carrying their own hand-baggage, descended the gangway and were driven to the Waldorf-Astoria. Before this, as the steamship neared her pier, the couple stood well forward in her bow, anxiously watching for the faces of their friends. At one time the countess caught the flutter of a handkerchief from shore, and, believing it to be a signal to her, waved a frantic answer, her face beaming with happiness. A little later she discovered her mistake and smiles gave way to tears.

If the family welcome at the pier was lacking there was a public welcome which in its enthusiasm must have been some compensation to the count and countess. Not fewer than 1,000 persons crowded the pier and cheered them as they made their way toward their carriage. The count smiled and lifted his hat, and again the eyes of the countess were suffused with tears.

At the Waldorf-Astoria there was the same lack of welcome that had been noticeable at the pier. They arrived at the hotel shortly after 9 o'clock, and had been there more than two hours before they received their first visitor. Then Miss Gould called.

A HEAVY BLOW FOR BRITAIN.

Losses in Sunday's Engagement Continue to Swell.

295 MEN FALL NEAR COLENSO.

London Waiting Further Particulars with Hope in Gen. Buller's Coolness—The Press Censor Continues to Hold Back Dispatches.

Pietermaritzburg, Jan. 23.—Gen. Warren fought all day Sunday near Colenso. Two hundred and ninety-five of the British were wounded.

London's Hope in Buller.

London, Jan. 23.—Nothing has been allowed to transpire officially concerning the operations of Gen. Buller's forces yesterday. The only dispatch is a preliminary list of the casualties in Saturday's fighting. One or two correspondents have been allowed by the censor to mention that the artillery reopened fire Monday morning. But all other eports transmitted on Monday refer to the situation on the previous day, and these confirm the reports that the progress of the British is slow and difficult.

The telegrams, however, still leave too much unsaid to enable a realization of the precise disposition of the British forces. What is known indicates the probability that the present operations, if successful, will last several days yet, and the inference of some of the critics that Gen. Buller's silence precedes an announcement of his success need not engage attention.

Meantime, the moderate total of the British casualties and the small proportion of deaths show a different handling of the troops, compared with many of the previous engaements. It also furnishes proof of the correspondents' statements concerning the growing skill of the British soldiers in availing themselves of cover like the Boers.

The Daily Chronicle has received the following, dated Monday, Jan. 22, 4:15 p. m., from Spearman's camp:

"Gen. Warren continues pushing, though he is necessarily making very slow progress, as the Boers are numerous and strongly intrenched.

"Our infantry are working over parallel ridges, with Lord Dundonald's cavalry lying well out on the left flank and awaiting developments. The Boers contest every inch of the ground.

"This morning Gen. Warren's artillery reopened fire, but the Boers did not reply, and our fire became less hot.

"The naval guns in front here have been quiet. A Boer prisoner, who was brought in, boasted that it would take us three months to reach Ladysmith."

An incident of Sunday's fighting was an attempt of the Boers to turn the extreme British left. The maneuver was defeated, however, by the artillery and the Devonshire regiment.

Nothing of consequence is transpiring at the other war centers.

A dispatch from Rensburg records an alarm in the Boers' main position Saturday night, which resulted in a useless fusillade for three-quarters of an hour. The fire puzzled but did not injure.

Gen. Methuen's position is unchanged. The usual routine is varied by occasional patrols, demonstrations and long-range fire.

The Times' correspondent concurs, with some others, that the Boers are using the guns captured at Colenso in opposing the British advance.

Death of Major Childs Confirmed.

A dispatch from Spearman's camp to the war office reports that Major Childs of the South African light horse has been killed and four troopers wounded.

A dispatch to the Chronicle from Spearman's camp, dated Jan. 22 at 4:15 o'clock, says:

"Gen. Warren continues pushing the enemy, though necessarily he is making slow progress, the Boers being numerous and strongly intrenched on the kopjes they hold. They have several good guns mounted, but the greatest effect is produced by their Maxims and rifles. Our infantry is working over parallel ridges, with Lord Dundonald's cavalry lying well out on the left flank, awaiting developments. Gen. Warren's artillery reopened fire this morning. The Boers did not reply, and our fire became less hot. The naval guns here have been quiet.

Kaiser Talks of the War.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—It is stated that at a recent reception of the presidents of the Prussian chambers, Emperor William discussed the South African war in the most impartial manner. He praised the successful tactics of the Boers, who, without swords or bayonets, and relying solely on their rifles, had done so well. At the same time his majesty expressed the deepest regret that so many of the best English families were mourning the heroic deaths of husbands, fathers and sons.

The emperor deplored the attitude of the German press, which rendered it most difficult to avoid friction with England. He recalled Prince Bismarck's, "We must pay for the windows broken by our press."

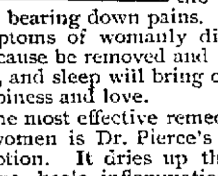
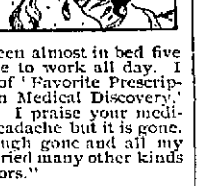
Some women don't know what it is to sleep well. In dreams they are haunted by the pains they bore through the day. There is no rest and no refreshment for them even in sleep. This condition is only one feature of many consequent upon forms of disease peculiar to women. The head aches often, or there are "spells" of dizziness or faintness, there is pain in the back or side, with bearing down pains. These are but symptoms of womanly disorders. Let the cause be removed and the pains will pass, and sleep will bring only dreams of happiness and love.



The most effective remedy for diseases of women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It dries up the debilitating drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and entirely cures female weakness.

There is no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant contained in "Favorite Prescription," neither does it contain opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic. It is a strictly temperance medicine. Accept no substitute.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., free of all charge. Each letter is treated as a sacred confidence. Every answer is sent in a plain envelope without any printing upon it. Write without fear and without fee.



"I want to praise your medicine," writes Mrs. Sarah J. Burney, of Crescent, Putnam Co., Fla. "I have been sick for twenty years and have been almost in bed five years, and now I am able to work all day. I have taken eight bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' and four of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and one vial of 'Pellets.' I praise your medicine to all. I had the headache but it is gone. My throat is well and cough gone and all my old troubles are better. I tried many other kinds of medicine and four doctors."

SICILIAN BRIGANDS

Have Been Terrorizing the Islands During the Past Year.

Rome Correspondence of the Chicago Record: Public security is at a low ebb in Sicily. Energetic measures have been adopted to stamp out brigandage in the island, but unless these are persisted in there are slight hopes of definitely wiping away this standing disgrace of Italy. I am glad to say that in the continental kingdom life and property are comparatively secure. Telegrams from Catania announce that the brigand chiefs Santangelo and Destefano have been killed and their followers dispersed in an encounter with the carabiniers, but they will assemble again under some other bloodthirsty villain. Santangelo was only 21, and he entered on his lawless career in the mountains early in 1898, after having fired on a policeman who was trying to arrest one of his friends. In September of that year he murdered a field laborer who had refused his supplies. He joined Destefano's band in the forests around Mount Etna. In January last the two descended to the smiling Piana di Catania and entered a farm where several laborers were at work. They beckoned to one of them —a man named Puleo, who was said to be in relations with the police—and told the others to stand aside. Puleo came up and was foully murdered. In May, in an attempt to capture them, one carabinier was killed and another wounded. The brigands Manzelea and Castiglione were surprised by the police in a house at Castellamare, near Palermo. They were wounded and arrested after a severe conflict. In the same district other freebooters seized the son of a well-to-do notary, took him up to the hills and obtained $4,000 for his ransom. The police, while in search of the scoundrels, came upon another band of marauders and succeeded in a running fight in killing one of them and recovering much stolen property. The latest statistics give 27.9 murders per 100,000 inhabitants in Sicily, while in Tuscany and upper Italy the average is about 6 per 100,000.

What Astounds France.

Whatever may be the opinion of France or of Europe on the subject of the war between England and the Transvaal, it is impossible not to notice the attitude of the entire British nation in face of the very serious check the British forces have experienced. The disaster at Ladysmith has not destroyed the nation's courage, and, what is more remarkable, the people have not lost their calmness. Far from seeking to embarrass Lord Salisbury or overturn the government because of the disaster, all parties are united in support of the government and ready to furnish means to insure victory.—Petit Parisien, Paris.

PEOPLE FORGET

And Leave Money in Safe Deposit Boxe for Years.

From the New Orleans Times-Democrat: "Apropos of the singular case of old man Burgess," said a bank teller the other evening, "it is by no means an unheard-of thing for people to put money and valuables in safe deposit boxes and then forget all about them. A remarkable case of that kind happened in New Orleans ten or twelve years ago. An old planter, who carried a good-sized deposit in one of the banks, gave a little bundle to the cashier one day and asked him to 'put it where it would be safe.' The cashier supposed it contained legal documents of some kind, laid it away in a compartment with a lot of other papers and thought no more about it. Three or four years later the planter had a series of misfortunes that wiped out most of his property, and he was terribly pressed for money. One morning he was in the bank, feeling very much dejected, when something reminded the cashier of the old package, and he went and hunted it up. 'Here's something you left with us a good while ago, colonel,' he remarked. 'Do you wish us to still keep it for you?' 'I don't remember what it is,' he said, and proceeded to strip off the wrapper. It contained fifty-five $100 dollar bills. He had received them as a balance on an old account, and the whole affair had simply passed out of his memory. He was in full possession of his faculties, but bigger transactions had crowded that one to the background in his mind. The money came in very handy at that particular time, and he was overjoyed at the discovery. Of course, that case was very much out of the ordinary, but many special deposits of lesser value have been overlooked for long periods in the local banks. Strange to say, some of the absent-minded folks have been women, who are reputed to be very keen about money matters. One famous old bank in New York is reputed to have half a million dollars in that kind of 'sleepers' in its vaults."

Ice In Cans.

Canned ice is one of the novelties that are shown at the Philadelphia export exposition. For household purposes this consists of hermetically sealed nickel balls and hollow dishes. These are filled with water before they are sealed and frozen at any artificial ice plant. The advantages claimed for this method of refrigeration is absolute freedom from moisture and extension of freezing on account of the ice not coming in contact with air. This preventing evaporation, the sealed utensils can be refrozen continuously for years. A ball is dropped into a pitcher of water and keeps it cool for a day.
